

LEAP AFRICA'S

THEORY OF CHANGE

This document presents LEAP Africa's Theory of Change Statement, Our Strategic Objectives and how they align with the results we seek

IF

young people and the systems that support them across Africa are equipped and empowered with transformative leadership skills, access to resources, and strengthened networks to foster collaborative action

- Ecosystem Building

AND

evidence-based approaches are leveraged to reshape systems, influence policies, and catalyze impactful development initiatives

- Thought Leadership

LEAP AFRICA'S

THEORY OF CHANGE

THEN

An inclusive and thriving Africa, driven by dynamic, innovative, and ethical youth leaders, will emerge.

AND

the voices of African youth are amplified through strategic advocacy, vibrant social movements, and sustainable structures that ensure their meaningful participation in decision-making processes - Advocacy

- ✓ An equitable, egalitarian and prosperous African community.
- ✓ As defined in LEAP Africa's Gender Equality and Diversity Policy.
- ✓ Needs, aspirations, efforts, and achievements of young people.
- ✓ This Includes capacity building as well as provision of resources.
- ✓ Individuals aged between the ages of 18 - 35.

LEAP AFRICA'S

DESIRED OUTPUTS AND OUTCOMES

LEAP Africa will position itself as an Ecosystem Builder by fostering cooperation, collaboration, and partnerships, including harnessing resources that support the growth and development of various stakeholders in the African youth development ecosystem.

DESIRED OUTPUTS AND OUTCOMES CONT'D

LEAP Africa will further serve as a Thought Leader that generates knowledge products and evidence-based models to inform and influence policy, practice and development programmes.

DESIRED OUTPUTS AND OUTCOMES CONT'D

LEAP Africa will serve as an advocate that projects the voice of the young people across the continent and mainstreams the issues that affect them; promoting policies and inclusive resources that support youth development across our focus areas.
